Local Happenings

Monitor Sports Day, June 30.

W. A. DeWolfe, of the Consort Enterprise, was a visitor in town on Monday.

Rob Bowers returned home last Saturday after spending several months out at the Coast.

About half an inch of rain fell on Monday morning, the downpour lasting over two or more hours. Along in the afternoon a heavy rain storm swept across the town for several minutes.

Miss Annie Martin is spending a few holidays here, coming down from Gadsby on Tuesday.

Goo and Mrs. Marshman have moved out to their farm near Gooseberry Lake. Mr. Marshman purchased a half-section several weeks ago.

Alee and Mrs. Shearer are visitors at the home of the Inter's parents, J. and Mrs. McMinn.

The Anniversary Service in the Cooperative Church on Sunday evening last was well attended. Rev. A. Sutherland, of Consort, gave a helpful sermon on Psalm 65. 11. Mrs. Meiklejohn, Consort, assisted in the choir and contributed a special solo offertory. The Church building was prettily decorated with flowers for the service.

T. Ulph has just received a shipment of the genuine Palm Beach cloth for summer wear.

Stonelaw U. F. A.

Will meet at Minor School on Saturday night, May 27th at 7.30. Details for the picnic will be discussed. Anyone having received a lease from a Mortgage Co. please do not sign it until you have attended this meeting, as this has turned out to be a serious affair for those signing such leases.

BASEBALL

The first game of the season for the local team, was played last Sunday at Compeer, when Monitor managed to squeeze through with a win in the last frame. Compeer made things rather unpleasant for the visitors when they put across four runs in the first innings, loose playing being responsible for the score. Monitor then put on the brakes and held Compeer down to 2 runs for the balance of the game. In the 8th round Monitor staged a hitting bee, scoring 5 runs before the side was retired. The final score was 9-6. Foley, for Monitor, pitched a good steady game and only issued one pass.

Monitor lineup: McGirr, s.s.; Halgerson 3b; Purdy rf, 1b; Gillam 2b; Sonquist 1b; Horne c, rf; McCulloch lf; Showler cf; Foley p. H. W. Weed, Umpire

A number of rooters went along with the team and gave the boys great support. The Monitor Band played several selections during the game.

Veteran will play here on the 4th of June.

Monitor plays at Consort on Sunday, May 28th.

The Monitor Orchestra will give a Dance at Kirriemuir on Friday, June 9th.

There was a good attendance at the dance, held in the Big Hall, last Friday. The local Orchestra supplied the music.

The Canadian Constitution

Necessarily, it has been said, is the mother of invention, and certainly the absolute necessity of Governments during and since the war period to find large revenues therewith to meet heavy national expenditures and unprecedented interest charges led to the inauguration, if not invention, of new schemes and methods of taxation. During the war it was practically impossible to control expenditures, hence it was necessary to raise money by borrowings and through excessive taxation to cover such expenditures. This practice, then enforced upon Governments, has for too long a period been continued—Governments basing their revenue requirements upon their expenditures, instead of endeavoring to bring expenditures within the limits of their revenues.

More recently, however, attempts have been made to reduce expenditures. The Washington conference on armaments was a noteworthy attempt in that direction. In Great Britain remarkable economies have been recommended by the Geddes Commission, and steps are now being taken to put many of these into effect. In Canada, too, an earnest effort is being made to bring about reductions in national expenditures, instead of merely striving to devise new means of taxation and enlarged revenues. These are signs of a return to national sanity, because the road we were travelling was bound to end in disaster. Municipal governments are likewise beginning to learn from past bitter experiences, and reductions in civic budgets are the order of the day.

There is, however, one field in Canada which would appear to offer an opportunity for harvesting a valuable crop of national economies and savings in expenditures, both Federally and Provincially, that is being neglected. Undoubtedly, politicians are somewhat loath to tackle it as once the question is opened to close investigation and expert study there is no telling what acute differences of opinion may develop throughout the country, or what really troublesome questions may call for answer and a solution. It is a case of leaving well enough alone no matter how bad that "well enough" may be.

We refer to the very large question of the increasingly apparent need for a revision of Canada's constitution as it is laid down in black and white in the British North America Act. During more than half a century of unparalleled change and progress throughout the world, there has been practically no amendment of any importance to the Canadian constitution. It still stands as it was written to meet the needs of 1867 and the future as it could be read by statesmen at that time.

The B.N.A. Act was the product of almost innumerable compromises, and unless these compromises had been effected at that time the Dominion would never have been brought into existence. But surely Canada has advanced sufficiently, and national sentiment developed to an extent, to warrant the hope that we have outgrown the need for many of the compromises effected to meet the local fears and jealousies of Provincial units and minorities in 1867.

With one of the heaviest per capita national debts in the world it is essential that Canada should enforce economies in administration and expenditure wherever it can be done without impairing the efficiency of the public services. And where it is possible to effect changes which will not only prove economical but add to efficiency in service and administration, surely it is the height of folly to neglect them merely because the path to reform may be strewn with difficulty.

After all no very great controversial questions need be involved in a consideration of quite a few subjects wherein there will be found to lie big opportunities for increased efficiency in public services at a very materially reduced cost to the country at large and relief to the overburdened taxpayer. All that is required is courage, straight business sense, and some of that same grim determination and untiring patience which characterized Lloyd George in connection with the Irish negotiations and is again the outstanding feature of the International conference at Genoa.

There are anomalies, inconsistencies, and duplications in the British North America Act costing this country millions of dollars annually, which, if they existed in connection with any big industrial concern, would occupy the minds of the directors until they are removed and the problems which they present definitely solved.

Space available in this column will not admit of a discussion of all of these, but in next week's article attention will be devoted to a few of them as illustrative of what might be accomplished if the Leaders in Government at Ottawa and in each of the Provincial capitals would get together in a round table conference in a sincere effort to achieve much needed reforms.

Faith and Optimism

World Needs Men Who Are Able to Overcome Obstacles

One marvels at the wizardry of the little Welshman of Downing Street. For verily, wise diplomacy, genuine leadership the world has never seen his equal. From victory to victory he leads the armies of peace and good will. By the strength of his personality he has overcome, within the last few years, insuperable obstacles, and battered down the strongholds of prejudice. For him peace has its honors and triumphs no less glorious than war. Once more is he saving the nations from possible disruption through his masterful handling of the Genoa conference.

What the world needs in every avenue of life, in the humbler walks in business, in industry, is the spirit of faith and optimism—from the Vancouver World.

How Colonel Saved Seemingly Hopeless Situation at Valcartier

"Someone has tampered with the pumps. We'll have no water supply, and four thousand men are arriving tomorrow!"

This was the message brought to headquarters at five o'clock in the afternoon of one of those strenuous days that marked the building of Valcartier Camp in August, 1914.

The situation seemed hopeless. There was no opportunity to get the stolen portion of the pumps under a delay of three days. Headquarters went to bed that night face to face with a water famine, and thousands of troops due to arrive in the next few hours.

When the camp awoke water was flowing freely from all the taps and outlets. Chug-chugging away, in the river, was a fine fire engine, the property of the city of Quebec.

Col. William McBain, one of the staff, had rushed to Quebec city, secured civic authority for the removal of the big fire-fighter, and on a special train delivered it to Valcartier and connected it up to the water system while the camp slept.

Just another little reason why Canada was able to send overseas in record time a division of real fighters.

Registration of goats in Canada has increased 50 per cent. during the past year and keen interest in goat raising is being evinced by suburban dwellers. British Columbia has maintained its lead and now exports large numbers of these animals to other provinces of the Dominion. In order to encourage breeding the Dominion Livestock Commissioner has agreed to have pedigree placed on registration certificates that distinction can be made between pure-bred and scrub stock.

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Population Possibilities

Only 2½ People Per Square Mile in Canada

The United Kingdom has 394 people to the square mile. Canada has two and a half. The average for the Empire is a little less than six per square mile.

Outside of the United Kingdom, New Zealand shows the most dense population with 11.7 to the square mile. If Canada had even half the density of population which New Zealand has, it would give her 19,000,000, while Australia would have 16,000,000. The possibilities of increased population tend to show that eventually the centres of population and influence will shift from outside Great Britain to some of her overseas dominions.—From the Farmers' Sun.

Exceptional Opportunities Exist In Canada For Engaging In Poultry Raising

Exceptional opportunities exist in Canada today for engaging in the agricultural or commercial activities of poultry raising and egg marketing. In this respect Canada faces a peculiar situation for whilst at the present time she is exporting eggs to foreign countries at the rate of about six and a half million dozen annually, she is importing for domestic consumption, nearly five and a half million dozen.

It is only of recent years, since Canada has diversified the larger issues of grain growing and livestock raising with lesser, though no less necessary, agricultural pursuits, that poultry raising has been entered into on what might be considered the portions of an important industry. This interest in poultry raising has been fostered and encouraged in every way by government campaign and propaganda and has resulted in a gratifying increase in the number of poultry and the production of eggs. Whilst Canada has been successfully asserting herself as a serious competitor amongst the dairy countries of the world, she has also been developing in a surprising manner as an egg marketing nation. Though her progress in egg production has been little short of remarkable, the export trade, from popular demand, has increased in like proportion yet she continues to send out practically the same amount as she is under the necessity of importing for her own use.

It is only within the past few years that Canada has managed to obtain a lead, small as it is, in egg exports over imports, due to phenomenal development in the home industry. Since 1909 Canada had the enviable position of importing each year more eggs than were exported. Total exports in 1911, for instance were 32,161 dozen against imports of 2,378,640 dozen. In 1915 exports amounted to 965,640 dozen only against 4,354,611 dozen. By 1918 the tide had turned and exports were 4,896,992 dozen against 4,274,452 dozen. The favorable trend has continued due to activity in the promotion of the industry at home and in 1921, exports were 6,579,833 dozen against imports of 5,341,611 dozen.

The Bureau of Statistics reports that there were 34,340,474 hens in Canada in 1921 as against 25,942,106 in 1920. During 1921 these hens were responsible for a production of, as near as can be estimated, 161,973,000 dozen eggs as compared with the previous year's production of 121,604,900 dozen.

Poultry farming has long been popular and profitable in Canada especially in the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia, but the increase in recent years has been brought about by the adoption on a greater and wider scale of poultry raising by mixed farmers and those following agricultural pursuits of other natures who have found this branch increasingly profitable and returning quick and steady revenues. In this regard it is significant that Saskatchewan, the first wheat province, is, in proportion to its population, the first poultry province of Canada with 9,000,000 hens, followed closely by Ontario. It is equally significant that Alberta, another prairie province, takes third place and that Manitoba, the third of the trio, is bracketed fourth with Quebec.

The opportunities lying in the poultry industry in Canada are self-evident from a survey of the facts. The export trade is developing to a large extent each year as the popularity of the Canadian produce increases and the demand is greater. In the decade 1911-1921 export in eggs has grown from 92,164 dozen to 6,579,833 dozen. Despite the tremendous increase in production practically an equal amount has to be imported to fill domestic needs. Room exists for wide expansion in production.

Railroads Pay Theft Losses

Enormous Sums Required Each Year to Reimburse Public

It was stated the other day in the newspapers that within a period of three years six million dollars' worth of goods had been stolen from the New York Central Railroad. This brings up the question of the enormous losses that are entailed every year from like causes. In a booklet of U.S. railway statistics before me is noted the fact that in the year 1917 the sum of $44,000,000 for loss and damage to freight, baggage, property and livestock. In the year 1920 the total losses and damage bill was $14,000,000. In neither case are injuries to persons taken into account. This is another bill which in 1920 amounted to $57,000,000.

These figures demonstrate two things, first that the railways are not receiving the careful and vigilant service of their employees; and secondly, that the public had to pay the freight, so to speak.

While the railway statistician who compiled this book does not list so many words and figures divide the thefts from other losses, it is none the less plain that thefts form a very large proportion of the whole. In this connection, Canadian railway managers could, if they would, unfold an equally startling array of figures, and these could readily back up by the experience of most any large client of our transportation systems.—From the Toronto Saturday Night.

Enthusiastic About Canada

Sir Julian Orde Says Dominion Has Great Future

"Throughout the whole of my tour through Canada from east to west, I did not discover what I should term a distinctively Canadian automobile." In these words, Sir Julian Orde, Secretary of the Royal Automobile Club, and a leading authority in Britain on the automobile industry, summed up an important aspect of the journey that has taken him half-way around the world, and from which he has just returned.

Sir Julian is enthusiastic about Canada's paved roads in the vicinity of large cities, which he declared were second to none, but he was not very favorably impressed with prairie highways. He returns home convinced in his opinion that if Canada is given the right kind of immigrants, she has a future in store for her such as no country has ever had in prospect before in its history.

"There are prospects of an era of prosperity in the Dominion far exceeding those of the United States, in my opinion," said Sir Julian. "The great need of the Dominion today is men and more men, and so soon as she begins to acquire greater population, she will hold out opportunities to new settlers such as no country can rival. Canada is fully capable of taking care of a very large influx of the right kind of settlers."

New British Plane Has Two Decks

Fighting Bomber Equipped With 1,000 Horsepower Engine

To go "upstairs" in an airplane in flight will be possible in a machine just completed for the British authorities, which has been designed to take the first of the 1,000 horsepower "Club" engines.

This airplane, about to undergo an expert official test at Martlesham Heath, is built so that it has two decks, or floors, one above the other. On the "ground floor" there is all the elaborate release gear and instruments for the accurate dropping of large bombs—the machine being in fact, a fighting bomber with an exceptionally wide radius of action.

On the "first floor" communicating with that below, will be accommodated the pilot and navigator of the machine, who have an admirable view on all sides.

The word "admiral" is derived from the Arabic, em-al-bahr, meaning "lord of the sea."

Egg Laying Contest

Reported that this year's Saskatchewan Egg Laying Contest is a Splendid One

The performance of the 10 pens entered in the Saskatchewan egg laying contest, conducted by the officials at the Indian Head Experimental Farm, up to and including the week ending May 1, shows pen No. 3, entered by the Experimental Farm, leading pen No. 2 by a margin of 36 eggs in 26 weeks. The two pens are white wyandottes and both listed as sick during the last week.

The Experimental Farm pens are entered for record of competition only, and will not compete for prizes. Superintendent MacKenzie and A. M. Pilkey, manager of the contest, report this year's performance a splendid one, with an apparent increased laying ability in the pens entered.

Following is a list of the pens and the owners:

1-3 G. Lewthwaite, Rosethorpe; sick; white wyandottes.

2-Experimental Farm, Indian Head; sick; white wyandottes.

3-Experimental Farm, Indian Head; sick; white wyandottes.

4-Experimental Farm, Indian Head; sick; white wyandottes.

5-Experimental Farm, Indian Head; sick; white wyandottes.

6-A. Finch, Battleford; sick; white wyandottes.

7-W. W. Smith, Battleford; sick; barred rocks.

8-S. W. Exley, Conquest; sick; white orpingtons.

9-O. A. Walters, Grenfell; sick; single comb Rhode Island reds.

10-T. Gibbs, Moose Jaw; sick; single comb white leghorns.

11-T. Gibbs, Moose Jaw; sick; single comb black leghorns.

12-A. W. Wilson, Indian Head; sick; white wyandottes.

13-Mrs. J. J. Dane, Heward; sick; rose comb Rhode Island reds.

14-R. Morley, Moose Jaw; sick; single comb anconas.

15-S. H. Jones, Blaine Lake; sick; barred rocks.

16-Major M. Shoul, Zelma; sick; barred rocks.

17-E. Barnett, Radisson; sick; white wyandottes.

18-Mrs. Alfred Wilson, Lashburn; barred rocks.

Conditions Growing Better World Is Recovering Slowly from Effects of War

Conditions in the world are not growing worse. They are growing better. Recovery from the effects of the war is progressing. The evils to be attacked are steadily becoming less important, and the very fact that they are being attacked is a great step toward correcting them. Political conditions the world over are growing perceptibly saner and sounder.

Business is responding with greater activity. Confidence is justifiably increasing. The number of unemployed is diminishing in this country, at least, and probably in all others. Experience is teaching men the solution of their problems and false steps, when made, are producing less serious results than was the case last year and the year before that, and the year before that.—Buffalo Express.

Railway Using Lazy Man's Invention

Switchman Conceived Idea Of Operating Signals From House

Few things are wholly bad. Laziness is not an admirable trait in any man, but for all that it appears to have been responsible for at least one useful and important invention. In 1846, says Mr. Herbert W. Horwill in Discovery, a railway switchman who had to attend to two station signals some distance apart decided to save himself the trouble of walking to and from between them by fastening the two levers together with a long piece of wire. He used a broken chair as a counterweight and ran the wire on into his hut. Each night after that he sat by his fireside and worked the two signals without setting foot outside.

Presently the railway authorities found out what he had done, reprimanded him for his indolence, promoted and rewarded him for his ingenuity and then adopted his invention.—Youth Companion.

Do You Know a Sunfish When You See It?

THE sunfish is a member of the Globefish family, and Francis learned this after his wonderful play and rest among the rocks that had been covered by the low tide. . . . when he learned all about everything concerning Hermit Crabs. . . . What a good time he had had!

He hated the mere thought of leaving the place, and yet he had to, because at last the tide was coming in—which, as you know, it does every twelve hours, just as it goes out again after the same lapse of time. So, the coming tide was to perform going out, and naturally was on the lookout for new things to leave. . . . In the old time Hermit Crabs had been very tired, and that is unusual for any Brownie. He had seen them fight about nothing (which they are always more than anxious and willing to do), and he had seen them battle about the homes they lived in, had lived in or were wanting to live in. Such fights! He had seen some of them terribly wounded and torn in half, while the victors triumphantly took possession of the shell once when he had been on Fifth Avenue, in New York City, and when looking in a shop window had beheld a Japanese screen that had been so beautifully painted and landscaped that for a moment as he gazed at it he almost thought himself beyond the city-limits and far away near the ocean. In any case, he wished himself there, and thought of fields and birds and flowers and waters and fish and reeds.

He was longing against a patch of rocks overlooking a pool of water which the sun directly struck, and right there, where he could so distinctly see them, a whole school of Sunfish were swimming and swimming in the warmest waters.

He was looking at the fish when he saw Plunzie, who in spite of being full of life, had been out all day as a result of the unusual and beautiful, could hardly breathe; he was far too busy looking! It was almost exactly like the design on the beautiful Japanese screen that he remembered.

When thinking of Sunfish we are very apt to make mistakes. We eat Sunfish from the fish dealers when we should say Panfish. A real Sunfish is almost round in shape and has two long and pointed hand-like fins toward the end of its body. It gleams and shines with phosphorus by night, and for this reason is often called Headfish and Moonfish. It is not very good to eat, and the Panfish that we wrongfully call Sunfish are delicious and much in An illuminating close-up of the workings of Scotland Yard, London's great police system, especially during the war, is given by the following incident related by Robert J. Thompson, an American writer, in the Dearborn Independent.

In 1908 Mr. Thompson paid a visit to the Museum of Crime in Scotland Yard, had his finger prints taken in the ordinary criminal way, and carried away a copy of the impression.

The other day he called at the headquarters of Scotland Yard and asked to see the chief of the criminal identification bureau. On being asked his name and the nature of his business he took out the souvenir copy of his finger prints of 1908, with all the identification memoranda (except the date) removed and handed it, with nothing else, to the messenger, saying: "Here's my card and I will tell the chief himself the nature of my business."

He waited three-quarters of an hour for the messenger to return. Then, in his own words:

I was led to an office where a keen-eyed and pleasant-faced man sat at a big desk and greeted me with a wave of his hand. Looking up and speaking slowly, he said: "Take a chair, Mr. Thompson, and tell me what we can do for you. I see by your dossier that you are no longer in the American consular service. That you resigned in 1915. That you wrote a book on the war—in the early days of the conflict." That you passed through our 'Intelligence' lines from Tilbury Docks to Holland in May, 1915, with a special journalistic commission from the Chicago Tribune and the London Times. That you became ill at The Hague. That you spent the winter of 1915-16 in Berlin, and that you went to Switzerland to recuperate and stayed there until after the close of the war. Now, again, what can we do for you? It is further observed that you were introduced here in 1908 by a Dr. Clark, of New York."

"Well," I responded, "what can you do for me?" You have already done it! Three-quarters of an hour ago not a soul about the place knew my name nor who I was, or where I came from. I must say that the thing works perfectly and it is too bad, I am sure, that I am not a criminal, and that I was not a German agent."

"Capital!" he said, "we knew you were not, and by two incidents which occurred in the winter of 1915 and 1916. Shall I tell you what they were?"

"Go ahead," I answered.

"Very well! Here you are," looking the meanwhile at some memoranda on his desk. "At a meeting of a committee of so-called Americans (the proceedings were carried on solely in German) at the German Authors' Club on November 15, 1915, in Berlin, you declined peremptorily to go on the platform and make an address with Sir Roger Casement. You further refused to make any public discourse whatever without first consulting your ambassador, Mr. Gerard, and submitting a copy of your speech to him for censorship. And in February, 1916, you repudiated with proper spirit (for the proposal was made by one of our own men), a suggestion that you accept a large fee—a very large fee—to go to Washington on secret mission for the German chancellor, Von Bethmann Hollweg. Your voluntary and spontaneous action at the German Authors' Club in the one instance, and your response to our test in connection with the Von Bethmann Hollweg offer, were sufficient for us, and after that, we left you alone."

Here was I, continues Mr. Thompson, a business man by occupation and a dilettante journalist when opportunity offered, drifting into Scotland Yard to get some color and statistics to divert myself by writing something on this greatest of police and detective institutions in the world—to talk to someone about Sherlock Holmes, Jack the Ripper, Raffles, the gentleman burglar, and so on, when I come up against the real thing by a stumbling instinctive interest in a simple attempt to test the finger-print identification work of Scotland Yard.

IV.
Winnipeg.

This has been a busy week. Sunday morning we went to St. John's Cathedral. St. John's, in spite of its impressive name, is but a tiny place, no larger than our smallest village churches. It is built of native stone, and is surrounded by a quaint old graveyard in which I was glad to wander for half an hour after the service.

On Monday I went sightseeing, with Mary as guide.

She took me first to the City Hall. Architecturally it leaves much to be desired, but it looks like a wedding-cake and a mouse, but I was interested in the pictures of the mayors, and I fell in love with the pretty little Council Chamber—it would be simply perfect for private theatricals.

We then went to the roof of the Union Bank, Winnipeg's highest building. I understand that in New York and Chicago there are office-buildings four times as high, but I am sure I do not wish to practise mountain-climbing in them—the Union Bank is quite high enough. But the view from the top was worth the dizzy feeling.

By this time it was noon, and with my luncheon I had another novel experience. I never heard of a "Dairy Lunch" at home—doubtless they can be found in the larger cities if one knows where to look—but here in me it was an entirely new experience to act as my own waitress and newer still to hear my orders, paraphrased beyond recognition, shouted through a dumb-waiter in an invisible cook. One minute the cook takes a tray and the necessary dishes from a counter, together with whatever food is already cooked, and then picks out a table for one's self. I was so

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lameness, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from Kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

much interested in the orders that were being passed on to the cook that I could scarcely eat my luncheon. Mary translated, "Ham and beans ham and eggs; " "Pork and" pork and beans (an extraordinary popular dish, apparently); "Four poached on two," is two orders of poached eggs on toast. (Mary tells me that she once heard the last order given as "Adam and Eve on a raft," but I think that story was made up for my special benefit.) As I listened I had a vision of the staid head-waiter in the quiet hotel where we always stay when we go west. I was never so satisfied with a meal head-waiter again.

In the afternoon we took a tram to the City Park. It is about five miles from Main Street. One goes that distance on Portage Avenue—another of the old trails—and then crosses the Assiniboine River on a feeble-looking pontoon bridge. The park, which is left as much as possible in its natural state, is really beautiful, although the trees are small and the grass is not like English grass. A horse has been provided here for quite a good deal of the natural animals. I saw several kinds of deer, wolves, foxes, buffaloes, badgers, bears and one heart-broken old eagle. The animals are all fairly tame and I got some excellent photographs. I was never afraid to admit it to the tramps, however, that I had seen the buffaloes—by the way, only the pedantic call them bison here. I expected to see majestic creatures at least as large as elephants, and what I did see looked very much like the badly focussed picture that I took of the elephant in the Bronx Zoo. Father had my camera. I went too close to the cattle, and as a result the heads and forequarters were about twice as big in the picture as they should have been.

And now for the most important thing that has yet found a place in my diary.

Each day since I reached Winnipeg I have read the "Situations Vacant" column in the various papers, and on Monday I saw the very thing I had been watching for.

"WANTED: At once, a working companion, comfortable home for the right person, $20.00 per month. Apply to Mrs. John Fiske, Elba, Manitoba."

I wrote a letter of application and then went to talk the matter over with Mrs. [Arnold]. To my surprise and consternation she was horrified.

"A working companion in Canada is the same thing as a general servant in England," she said when the first exclamations were over. "The work and the surroundings will not be what you expect, and you will meet with disappointment and difficulty at every turn. What will your mother say to me if I countenance so ridiculous a project?"

"Mother knew what my plans were before I left home," I answered.

"But your mother does not know to what the realizations of those plans would lead you. In the first place, you would lose caste."

"I thought that caste was an unknown quantity in Canada," I interrupted, rather rudely, I fear. "At any rate, I came here for experience, and I am certain that I shall never leave Canada again. I stay in Winnipeg at your guest."

Mrs. Arnold laughed.

"My dear Ellice," she went on, "Canada cannot compare with India in the matter of caste, nor even with England; but I think you will find that when there is poverty and want, employer and employed, there will be caste also."

"As to experience—well, you will probably get more than you bargain for. By the time you have done the washing, scrubbed the floors, cooked the dinner in a red kitchen full of flies and without twelvemen, you may feel like going into the subject of scientific farming, but I doubt it."

"Of course there is just a chance that you may find a place that will suit you, but you are taking a big risk. I advise you that you will not put your reputation up to that project."

I promised. But what followed could scarcely be called a consultation for Mr. Arnold only laughed at me. I hate to be laughed at, so, just to spite him, I never mentioned my letter on my way. Yesterday I received Mrs. Fiske's reply, in which she asked me to leave for Elba at once. As soon as I read it I went to Mr. Arnold, and, fully convinced now that the matter was not a joke, he gave me a fatherly little lecture along the same lines as that delivered by Mrs. Arnold.

However, when Ellice Eliot makes up her mind it is made up to stay, and the only concession I would make was to agree to Mr. Arnold's suggestion that Mary should go with me to Elba and stay with me. When I was met by my employer that same word "employer" makes me feel as if I were a lady's maid, but the deed is done and "England expects . . . etc." To be quite honest, I am awfully nervous.

The Arnolds have been so good to me and have made my visit with them so pleasant that it seems ungrateful to leave them in this way. Although they think it unwise of me to go to Elba, they have done everything they could to help me in my preparations, quite as though we were acting in accordance with their best interest. It is such a pleasure to meet people who do not look upon a contrary opinion as an insult!

And of one thing I am sure. If my venture fails and I return to them, they will meet me with open arms and closed lips.

"Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism and for ten days I could hardly move, much less get out of bed. When I got up I was so weak and in such pain I just could hobble around. My back hurt continually and my arms and feet ached all the time. I had headaches so bad I could hardly see, could get but little sleep and was in misery day and night."

"But today I am well and strong and it's all due to Tanlac. I haven't an ache or pain in my body, feel fine all the time and have picked up several pounds in weight. I prize Tanlac above all other medicines."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Fingerprints of a Cow's Nose

New Method of Identification of the Bovine Family

According to a plan instituted in Minneapolis lately, more than 2,000 prints of cow's nose have been filed with William E. Peterson, superintendent of the official testing bureau of that State, says nose prints are as infallible as fingerprints, and that every pedigree cow should be so registered.

The chairman of the International Association of Identification and editor of the Detective, said that the plan is receiving such favorable support in Minnesota that it will become national.

"I have gone into the matter and I find that a cow's nose never changes," he said, "It is the same as with finger prints. So many purchasers have been swindled by substitution of low grade stock for pure blooded, that the wise purchaser hereafter will look for a noseprint identification."

Select The Hague As Meeting Place To Discuss Russian Question

Genoa.—The Hague has been definitely selected as the meeting place for the experts who will further examine the Russia problem. Arrangements for the Hague conference in June were practically completed with the acceptance by the Russians of the proposals submitted to them, which have been amended so as to provide that a truce between the various powers will continue for a maximum of eight months.

The process verbal relating to the Lloyd George plan for dual commissions to meet at The Hague, which was presented to the Russians was adopted with an annex. With the amendments carried by the sub-commission, it will be sent to the Washington Government probably with a letter from the secretary of the Genoa conference.

Clause 6 of the annex to the process verbal, which refers to the truce or preliminary pact of non-aggression, was amended in such a manner as to make it clear that the truce, as well as applying to the Russian Government, will apply also to the eight republics allied with Russia. This would bring in the Far Eastern Republic, with which Japan has been vainly trying to conclude a general treaty.

The Japanese delegation accepted this amendment with the understanding that it must be ratified by the Japanese Government.

A second important amendment to the document provides that the truce will continue to operate for a period of four months after adjournment of The Hague meeting. As it had been previously understood that The Hague conference would last about four months, this change is interpreted as indicating a probable European and Asian truce of about eight months. This extension is also considered a victory for Mr. Lloyd George because it provides more time for the consummation of the permanent non-aggression pact into which he hopes the truce will be merged.

League Will Consider Mandate for Palestine

Meeting to be Held Not Later than July 15

Geneva.—The Council of the League of Nations decided to hold a special meeting not later than July 15 to consider the question of approving the British mandate for Palestine. Lord Balfour in a speech before the council, said Great Britain was greatly disappointed that the present session had failed to register the League's consent to the terms of the mandate, which the allied powers had long ago agreed upon. Lord Balfour pointed out to the council members that their refusal to consider the mandate did not mean that the allied policy regarding mandates was endangered. Sir William was sent out by Lord Northcliffe as a result of what the latter learned of Canada during his tour last year.

Expect Reduced Total Acreage in Wheat

Saskatchewan Will Suffer Most According to Weekly Crop Report

Winnipeg.—From present indications we anticipate a somewhat reduced total acreage in wheat this year," stated the weekly crop report of the Grain Trade News issued here.

"While Saskatchewan will perhaps suffer from an acreage reduction of from 5 to 12 per cent., Alberta and Manitoba may both be expected to have made a gain of from five to 10 per cent," the report continues. If last year's figures of wheat acreage estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics are taken then the acreage for the two years might compare somewhat as follows in round figures:

Manitoba—1921, 3,500,000; probable 1922, 3,750,000.

Saskatchewan—1921, 13,500,000; probable 1922, 12,000,000.

Alberta—1921, 5,120,000; probable 1922, 5,500,000.

Total—1921, 22,120,000; probable 1922, total, 25,000,000.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to do their housework duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and tired. How can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes weak and easily fatigued and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

Hon. T. A. Crerar

Favors Placing Settlers Along National Railways

Ottawa.—Discussion of railway estimates in the House brought from Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, an important declaration of his policy on the national roads. He advocated the closing down of part of the trans-continental lines running across the wilderness between Eastern and Western Canada. He urged a revaluation of the entire system on a replacement-basis and its unification. He favored and suggested regional districts. He took the ground that, in encouraging immigration, the Government should take steps to see that the new settlers were placed along the national lines.

It was too, Mr. Crerar argued, a sound principle that the fiscal policy of the country should be so drafted as to stimulate production from the farm, the forest and the mine and railway traffic would thereby be encouraged.

"If the National railways are turned over to private ownership at any price which private ownership would pay, the country would forever lose their potential value, but would not escape the liabilities involved," Mr. Crerar declared.

Mr. Crerar's speech came at the close of an afternoon's discussion on the railway estimates, a discussion which would be continued.

Earlier, Hon. Walter Mitchell, Liberal member for St. Antoine and formerly one of Sir Lomer Gouin's lieutenants in the Provincial Government of Quebec, had defended private ownership of railways. Mr. Mitchell went further; he expressed opposition to the principle of public ownership and operation of all public utilities.

"I have come to the conclusion on general principle," Mr. Mitchell asserted, "that the public pay more under public ownership than they benefit from lower charges."

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, charged in reply that Mr. Mitchell had no case. As the national lines had not been constructed as commercial propositions, no private company could make them pay.

Casgrain Says Canal Would Increase Rates

Ocean Vessels Would Not Compete With Low Charges

Ottawa.—Resuming his speech on the St. Lawrence ship canal in the Senate, Senator Casgrain declared that its construction instead of cheapening rates would increase them. On May 5 the rate on wheat from Port Arthur to Montreal including all charges, was less than 7 cents per bushel, while the average rate per bushel from 1910 to 1915 from Port Arthur to Liverpool, including all charges was 10.73 cents. No ocean vessel would ever enter the great lakes and compete with that power.

A ten-thousand-ton steamship costs $600 per day to operate, and it would take fifty days for a return voyage from Liverpool to Duluth, or a total cost of $30,000. Such a ship would carry only two hundred thousand bushels of grain at 11 cents per bushel, which would mean a net loss of $18,000 dollars. Lake carriers could handle five hundred thousand bushels of grain on an average. They could come down with ore and grain to the lower lakes and get a complete cargo of coal back. They could make the return voyage in ten days with a revenue of $11,000.

USEFUL FOR OVER 500 PURPOSES

Gillett's Lye can be used for so many purposes that their enumeration here would be impossible. For example, Gillett's Lye can be used for making soap, in washing dishes, also as a disinfectant. For softening hard water. As a means of removing grease and smoke stains. These are only a few of its many uses, but they serve to indicate what has made Gillett's Lye such a general household utility to-day.

The economic treaty between Poland and Germany settling the Upper Silesian question between the two nations, was signed in the presence of the Council of the League of Nations and many other interested spectators.

The Grandview Branch of the Royal Bank, Naples Street and Commercial Drive, was held up by three armed men and robbed of $1,000 or $1,500 in cash. The men escaped in an automobile.

The crews of four German steamers which for weeks were icebound in the Gulf of Riga, were supplied regularly with fresh bread by Latvian military aviators. Fishermen reported the vessels running short of provisions and airmen from Riga made trips every few days carrying food for the sailors, the bread being dropped in sacks on the ice near the hemmed in steamers.

Crop Report Shows Increased Acreage

According to the first season's crop report of the Canadian Pacific Railway the total acreage prepared for seeding in the three prairie provinces is 16,468,518 as compared with 12,785,750 in 1921, an increase of nearly 29 per cent. Manitoba has an increase of 14 per cent. In both summerfallow and fall ploughing; Saskatchewan an increase of 12 per cent. In new breaking and 93 per cent. in summerfallow; Alberta shows an increase of 6 1/2 per cent. in new-breaking and 24 per cent. in summerfallow.

A Tribute to Lloyd George

American Paper Commends His Work at Genoa Conference

Though the French extremists of the Andre Tardieu type may hold that his own words justify all their fulminations and all their charges against him; though they may think they have found new reasons to complain of the measure of support given to France and plans, the world at large will commend the British Premier's endeavours, and will see in the Genoa conference something more than a last desperate effort to save a bad situation. They will recognize it as an endeavor to realize on a carefully conceived and nurtured plan for the reconstruction of Europe; and whether Lloyd George fails or succeeds in his design, he will stand the higher in the estimation of men for what he has done.—Detroit Free Press.

Rules for Feeding Dairy Cattle

Sudden Changes in Feeds Liable to Cause Loss in Gains or Production

The Dominion Animal Husbandman sets down in No. 68 of the Experimental Farm circulars three very concise and explicit rules for feeding dairy cattle. The first is: Never overfeed; the second, Feed according to the individual needs and desires of each animal; and the third, Feed regularly both as to the hours of feeding and the character of the feeds. Relative to the last, the Animal Husbandman points out that sudden changes in feeds are liable to cause not only a loss in gains or production, but will often induce ailments such as diarrhea, bloat, milk fever, etc., all of which are described in the circular with suggested treatment and remedies.

Nation-wide Fame—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil have not been tried and proved. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Seeing Good in Everyone

We may, if we chose make the worst of one another. Every person has his weak points; every one has his faults; we may make the worst of these; we may fix our attention constantly upon these. But we may also make the best of one another. We may forgive, even as we hope to be forgiven. We may put ourselves in the place of others and ask what we should wish to be done to us and thought of us in their place. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us, love will flow back from them to us and will become like Heaven; and we shall become not unworthy followers of Him whose Eternal name is Love!—Dean Stanley.

Fur Farming

Sanitation and Cleanliness Are Essential for Success

In my last letter I told of the possibilities of fur farming and why it should be profitable in the west. I will now try to tell you how it should be carried on to have the greatest income in your stock.

There are some very important things to consider in fur farming and the most essential are to get the very best stock to start with. Another is proper feeding and still another is the sanitary problems of your ranch, which if neglected mean failure to produce the kind of animal that brings the highest market price.

Wild animals in captivity are not subject to many diseases if sanitation is strictly enforced. To do this one must start early in the spring or as soon as it is advisable to go into the range and keep everything scrupulously clean in the pens and houses, and if the houses are sprayed once a week with creosol, using a fine spray, fleas will be kept away and you will not have to use anything on your animals. All feeding dishes should be first washed in clean water and then boiled and set in the sun until again used, and every dish used in preparing the food should be treated the same after it is used so that nothing will become tainted in the least. All food that is carried over from one meal to another should be protected from flies, etc., either by screens or in a cooler, and food should be fed as fresh as it is possible to procure it. It is true that some animals will eat food that has gone bad, but it is just as true that this food is not good for them and will sooner or later cause trouble. It is better to feed milk in the evening, after the weather becomes hot and muggy, as it does not sour as quickly in the cool of the evening as it does in the sun of the day.—W. G. Church, Inspector.

RHEUMATIC TREATMENT

This Trouble Can Only be Got Rid of by Enriching the Blood

In no disease does the blood become so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin, but it is loaded with rheumatic poisons. With the proper treatment these poisons increase, the general joints are undermined, the inflamed joints swell, and are very painful, and often the sufferer becomes crippled.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and enable it to cast out the rheumatic poisons with the natural secretions of the body, thus driving out the pains and benefiting the general health. Sound proof of these statements is offered by Mrs. George Stanley, Sparta, Ont., who says:—"For a number of years I was troubled with rheumatism, and it became very painful. My general health was also affected, and I could scarcely drag myself around. I had been doctoring a good deal, but did not get any better, until one day my daughter brought me a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time they were used I could notice a slight improvement, and I continued taking the pills until I had used about a dozen boxes, by which time I felt like a new person who walked like one. I could do my work with ease, and have since enjoyed the best of health. I have since recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several others who received the same benefit as myself."

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit of soreness. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

President E. W. Beatty Deals With Important Matters Affecting All Canada In Address To Company's Shareholders

E. W. BEATTY,
President C. P. R.

The 41st annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway was held at noon on May 3rd at Montreal and in his address to the shareholders President E. W. Beatty, after commenting upon the earnings of the year, as already reported, which had shown an increase in net receipts in face of a decrease in gross, said:

In my opinion, Canada cannot afford to be without a definite and forward immigration policy much longer. While it is urged that the depression both in agriculture and in general industry with consequent unemployment is the past winter is a reason why we have no immigration measures should not be taken, it must not be forgotten that there are types of immigrants that can be readily obtained and brought to Canada with the prospect of adding to the bounties of the country. The immigration of young people of British stock can be accomplished without affecting in any material degree the existing situation of restricted employment opportunities. Immigration of domestic servants is substantial numbers may reasonably be encouraged and the immigration of agriculturalists from Northern Europe, Great Britain and the United States who can only be secured in large numbers if they are actively prosecuted. In addition, the Government would, I think, be well warranted in framing a policy designed to permit more general immigration of continental people of which have heretofore come to this country and succeeded under Canadian conditions. It must not be forgotten that Canada's opportunities deserve widespread recognition and every effort should be made to begin to be set up; it will not be until 1923 that the results of the Government's activities will be felt. Unless we feel that the conditions in this country will not be improved for some considerable time to come it would appear that the preliminary steps to obtain immigrants in substantial numbers should be taken without further delay. The Canadian Pacific for many years has been the most active colonization agency in Canada. So far the number of 54,000 have been placed upon its lands alone and the cost of the company's activities in land sale, hiring, irrigation and colonization since its incorporation has been extremely large, amounting to approximately $68,000,000, an amount in excess of the total expenditure of the Dominion Government for immigration during that period.

As forecasted in the address at the last annual meeting, reductions took place during the year in both rates of wages and in freight and passenger rates; the former which became effective July 16th last was equivalent to a reduction of 9.8 per cent on the working payrolls of the company. The demand for further freight rate reductions is still persistent throughout Canada and to the existing scale of rates is attributed much of the present depression in agriculture. There is an opinion an entirely erroneous impression that the existing freight rates are the cause rather than the result of the present economic conditions, the most important of which from a transportation standpoint is the present state of war, and the working conditions which the railways were compelled by Government authority to accept during the war. It is the view of your directors and it has been the view for some time that the scaling down of freight rates of charge should be begun with reductions on basic commodities, especially in those industries which have felt the general depression most severely.
